

The Magnificent You

Mohsen Paul Sarfarazi, Ph.D.

- Have you ever encountered a situation that you look deep within and think to yourself: Is my life supposed to be just this? Is there not more to living?
- Have you ever wondered to YOURSELF and said I KNOW I DESERVE MUCH MORE THAN THIS!
- If the answer to either question is YES, you are not alone.
- You are among countless number of people who continuously or sporadically think the same thought on the whole planet.
- In fact, almost the entire populations of people, particularly those with a modicum of intelligence or education, feel the same way at all times.
- Everyone feels they deserve much more and there is a much more profound meaning to their lives than is commonly transparent to them.
- It is almost like having been in a car crash or such and you feel you have lost your memories and just cannot remember any more.
- You know there is something about you and you just cannot put your finger on it.
- While living your life constantly as an amnesiac, you adapt to your conditions; but you never give up 'hope' and inherently know better days are in your horizon, and sometimes in the future you will get there and feel relieved and satisfied.
- Your apparent 'lack of memory' is not uncommon.
- Many souls feel just the same, so YOU ARE NOT ALONE!
- What is interesting is that despite your perceived shortcomings, imperfect conditions, and obvious hardships in life, be it financial or otherwise, there is nobility within you that you rely upon which carries you over.
- You want to try more, live more years, and you remain hopeful.
- This is also not unusual as innumerable other 'souls' feel just the same.

- They feel special, they feel they have essence, heritage, and may be even divinity; Even the latter is not misconception, illusion, or a dream.
- What is notable is that the sensation is quite genuine, heart-felt, and authentic as it comes directly from within.
- There is not a spec of ego-driven impulse that drives you to such sensation.
- The ego is quite 'off guard' from such a thought, belief, or feeling.
- In fact, you would expect ego to be impervious to such perception of self-worth or substance as it would probably interfere to impose a fear of ridicule or inhibition on the sensation.
- Furthermore, as this feeling or thought is quite 'intuitive' in nature; and it is not initiated by ego, the symbiotic characteristic aspect of ego with Self invokes a certain sense of competition or jealousy which undermines the impression of vigor in the 'soul.'
- The perception of being SPECIAL has certain kind of truth and accuracy associated with it.
- The truth of the matter is that you are especial, very exceptional, and a special species of an entity.
- The only problem is that you have forgotten all about Yourself.
- You are of divine origin, a child of God who cannot remember his magnificence any more.
- And this is because of a prolonged history of lifetime experiences, full of trials and tribulations, under diverse and opposing conditions, from gargantuan wealth to extreme poverty; impressive athletic composure and health to total sickness; from ecstasy to misery; godly creational to benign existence; absolute love to anger; utter peace to war; delight to petulance; etc.,
- On top of all this there has been a continual fear for survival throughout all eons of life experiences you have endured.
- This is a never ending, nagging sensation of anxiety that compels you to worry throughout the ages for wanting to take care of you and your family.
- It seems that you have not had any significant care-free times to yourself to want to go within and have 'quiet reflection' or soul-searching moments to yourself. If you could, if you did, you would not be so lost, living like an amnesiac, and would recollect your grandeur, your privileged status bestowed upon you by the ALL MIGHTY Father.

- Throughout the ages, and especially during the last two to three centuries the pressures, the stresses have particularly amplified exponentially and progressively, giving rise to further status of being 'lost,' preoccupied, and totally forgetful.
- You might be astonished and bewildered by the choice of adjectives describing the number of years of your past experiences; centuries, eons, etc.
- That is correct! There is no errors, no mistake about it.
- You are ETERNAL; you live forever.
- In this way, man's quest for finding the 'fountain of youth,' the 'elixir of immortality,' has been all futile.
- The truth of the matter is that YOU have been IMMORTAL after all these centuries, all these years, and you just did not know or remember.
- The experience of duality is always associated with REBIRTH.
- You live a limited number of years, e.g., 80 years at a time as a particular gender, a certain person.
- Then you die at the end of your time as this person and then reincarnate as a different person, gender, and character.
- All this time you carefully select the life you want to be or represent with your guardian angels and ascended masters from heave.
- The idea is to choose as many diverse personalities and live under as varied conditions as possible in order to experiences as much as possible in order to learn and educate yourself optimally.
- Yes, IT IS TRUE! You are everlasting; you are immortal; you recirculate and come back to live more and more!
- Only, strictly speaking, it is not LIVING, as the saying goes!
- You are here to get experience; to encounter different scenarios; to study; to learn; in order to increase your CONSCIOUSNESS; TO EVOLVE.

- It is all a matter of temporary circumstances, living as a student on this superb college of life, or more specifically the school of hard Knox for learning Duality; one we call Earth.
- You were never meant to just live and die on Earth!
- These are just days of your school going to mater living in duality.
- Of course, now the curriculum has been inadvertently complicated much further by undergoing bondage and restrictions of slavery.
- However, this qualifies you as a valedictorian and an honors student.
- It has had the disadvantage of not having been able to reach graduation sooner by possibly skipping a semester or two due to the added restrictions of bondage.
- This is also the primary reason for our amnesia; a condition we have contracted because of hard driven slavery, or more eloquently, because of being conditioned under the directives of lies, false pretenses, and subliminal trainings.
- However, have no FEAR as our awakening is now at hand.
- We are being increasingly introduced to advance high frequency divine energies whose purpose is to raise our level of consciousness via elevated frequencies.
- We are being resurrected to our initial state of awakening to finally remember and reacquaint ourselves with our true identities and status of LIVING we originally had.
- There are families to renew our fellowships, friends to refresh our companionships, colleagues to revive our communions, and associates to either enliven or start our relationships with.
- All in all, remember that you are not who or what you perceive to be; You are the sum of all that you have been living in the past; that which is now also part of YOU, residing in your 'soul' within everlastingly.
- And this has been your goal, your evolutionary path, and your destiny.
- Congratulations, 'Mission Accomplished,' 'Welcome Home,' 'You Graduated with Fine Colors,'

- The FATHER and the kingdom of Divine are pleased and they salute you for your stamina, your essence for staying in the LIGHT, and respect you for your valuable knowledge and experienced gained.
