

You are the Creator of your Reality

Mohsen Paul Sarfarazi, Ph.D.

- We create our own reality day-by-day.
- Some of you may not be so familiar with these concepts.
- In that respect this article may serve as a crash course for you.
- Everything in the universe is energy.
- Energy is consciousness.
- Every cell in our body has its own consciousness and all consciousness is interlinked.
- We are 'ONE WITH ALL.'
- Isolation or separation is only an ILLUSION.
- All have a gift of telepathy. Telepathy is an inherent quality or ability of ALL.
- Everyone has the skill of empathetic telepathic communication.
- The notion of 'liking' or 'disliking' someone originates from a consciousness, a 'sensation' that is either unfamiliar to us; or alternatively, resonates with us.
- When we think to ourselves "I feel that I have known this person for all of my life," we operate under the influence of empathetic telepathic communication.
- On the contrary, dislike is an impulse resulting from our consciousness or awareness of a person that resonates fear in us. It strikes an old chord in us, compelling us to feel or say "I just do not like this person!"
- We exist in a realm of vast diversity of consciousness, of energy existing exterior to our physicality.
- We devote a great deal of our time consciously or subliminally trying to sort out our instinctive reactions in order to comprehend what is occurring outside of us.
- As we go about our daily affairs we are resolved and content regarding our creative and affirmative notions.
- On the contrary, negative reactions to our intuitive emotions, prompted by conditions external to us, are frustrating and flustering to us.

- Unfortunately, most people employ a great amount of efforts and time reacting to the same repetitive sensations, ideologies, and designs that are not gratifying and leave much to be desired.
- One issue bewildering the current Earth humans is the subject of 'money' and 'things.'
- Unfortunately, this is something that occupies the mind and heart of a countless number of people.
- This may be referred to as 'poverty consciousness' that triggers such thoughts as "I wish I had a million dollars,' or "If only I were a rich man.' The emotional commotion prompted by such sighing desires is draining, wasteful, and futile!
- Another concern in the mind of a majority of people, especially the population of the Western World is the dilemma of romantic or carnal 'love.'
- This, of course, is entirely dissimilar to the reality of 'unconditional love' or the 'love' and genuine reverence one feels for one's Creator, the benevolent Father of ALL THAT THERE IS.
- It is the desire, the lust, the longing one feels for having a different relationship, a new connection, any new association, or an arrangement other than the one the individual currently possesses.
- The principal hint is that one should remember who she (or he) is by referring to within and take the decisive action as to bring about an end to this longing, gnawing feel of uncertainty.
- One must resort to the heart to unveil the 'truth' regarding the bewildering circumstances at hand.
- It is only then one is directed to the reality of one's existence and guided to take the 'right' actions as to resolve oneself from the agony of misperception.
- More specifically, regarding the example of greed and lust for money, one may be pointed out to the 'truth' that simplicity is the conveyor of resolution and comfort and tranquility is not necessarily derived from mammon.
- In fact, excessive wealth is often associated with the bothersome chore of maintenance, and anxiety of forfeiture and defeat.

- As to the case of yearning for new love, lust or conquest, the wisdom of the heart illuminates the fanciful, eccentric, yet grotesque nature of, again, 'having' to be the downside of the bargain.
- One has the option of faithfulness, closeness, and authenticity of a genuinely warm relationship right at home.
- To acquire the latter, one must commit to compassion, attentiveness, perseverance, and clemency in order to seed a non-judgmental bond with one's companion. Nowhere is better to search than 'home' to 'find' such a partner.
- Unless impulsively enacted in the first place, without consulting with the 'heart,' or for other self-centered yet empty and insincere reasons pertaining to wealth or narcissism, the chances are that you have once resonated in harmony with the same individual.
- Therefore, the best and the most optimum solution is to 'mend' your relationship with your 'lover' in order to restore your 'connection.'
- This may take some efforts, some diligence, some self-abnegation, and love.
- The primary factor is to be able to 'give' and not constantly 'demand,' or 'anticipate.' It is what is referred to as 'unconditional love' which not only fuels affection, love and romance; but it also serves as the 'glue' that bonds all that there is together in 'Oneness,' in synchronization to resonate or function in harmony with one another.
- So, as you see that you are caught in a web of 'monotonous foretelling,' think of 'change' or transformation into a new and 'higher' being.
- However, pre-requisite to transformation is acuity for a model of creation.
- Let us explore to see how creation without monotonous foretelling can be achieved as to evade repetitive action.
- We are all creatures of habit.
- We are conditioned to have certain thoughts, beliefs, and emotion almost from the initial moment we are in utero, when we are in our mother's womb, to the time we are about 6 or 7 when start to attend school. This begins to set our reality.

- Since our parents are our initial educators, and because they are the victims of the same conspiracy prompted by the Dark Cabal as to maintain us within a certain low frequencies, even lower than theirs, we begin life with the same reality.
- This is a product of lies, deceits, and misinformation imposed upon us as to suit their self-serving indulgences without any concern for the rest of us.
- By the time we take our first lessons within a formal educational establishment we are often conditioned to firmly believe a certain way which is cast in stone and most likely stay with us for the rest of our time on Earth.
- This misinformation is confirmed and now highly accentuated in our minds about who we are, why we are here, and how we can prosper and pursue a life of contentment and happiness for the rest of our days on Earth.
- It is made deeply embedded in our minds that in all probabilities we are alone in the universe.
- All the significant activities and explorations of the NASA and other space agencies are performed in a surreptitious manner and their research findings are carefully censored and imprudently misrepresented to us as to make us strongly believe in the same fabricated information; the same falsehood.
- The news of countless abduction by Greys, the mutilations of our Earth brothers and sisters, their exploitations, torturous treatments, and genocide are denied by the government and further details are guardedly kept clandestine and out of reach of public.
- The extent of illegitimately and dishonestly obtained tax-payer public money expended on space exploration or exploitation as well as capital 'used' and depleted for hopeless weaponry are not disclosed to the public.
- The decidedly questionable practice of warmongering and meddling in the affairs of Middle East, Africa, and other countries are grossly in violation of the Universal Laws of 'Non-interference' and 'Free Will,' and are directly contrary to the 'will' of the citizen of United States as well as the 'Right of Sovereignty' of the nations involved.
- Likewise, the audacity, debauchery, and criminal act of subliminal messaging for private agendas commonly carried out by the Dark throughout the globe via media advertising and carefully graphics embedment in cartoons and live action movies are examples of intrusion and privacy violation strictly verboten under the same laws of universe, namely, interference and free will desecration.

- The dogma of religion plagues Earth humans from early childhood.
- Many of the principles are in concert with the heart and inner wisdom of the soul. These are readily understood and accepted by the heart. An example is the concept of '7 sins;' although the list is lengthier, and strictly speaking 'sin' is that which is objectionable to the conscientious heart as God is everlastingly forgiving and non-judgmental.
- The adherence of these intuitively correct concepts to the heart sets a path for accepting certain other devious and irresponsibly planned information included in the religious scripts. These are, however, mostly of historical nature. Exclusion of certain facts deemed harmful in exposing our tyrant oppressors, as well as misinformation regarding certain orchestrated lies as to promote superstitions and low consciousness, has created a confusion or chaos among the believers of various religions.
- It is commonly postulated that since the scripts are supposed to be a presentation of divinity, they must be true, and the religious writings must be accepted in their entirety as a complete account of 'Truth' regarding ALL THAT THERE IS.
- This, of course, is the most single source of calamity regarding religion which is both most perilous and destructive.
- The fundamental problem is that the humans of Earth do not know who they are and where they come from. Generally speaking, they are made to believe that they evolved from a group of apes on Earth not long ago. This is based upon highly revered Darwin's theory of Evolution which also most dangerously emphasizes the 'survival of the fittest' postulation which is taught in schools religiously as a statement of 'scientific' fact. Countless research studies, 'scientific' symposiums, and teachings are dedicated to Darwin's Theory, all originating from the same fundamental erroneous 'assumption.' The irony of this most widely propagated and accepted hypothesis (although perceived as principle to many) is that 'the missing link' has never been found. This is in spite of countless archeological and anthropological digs sponsored by numerous individuals and institutions resulting in incalculable amount of dollars expended. Could it be that the theory is flawed by adoption of an erroneous assumption? Should we not have moved along decades ago?

- It is at least encouraging to see that a myriad of programs dedicated to the subject of man's evolution, which used to run seemingly constantly on educational TV channels such as the Discovery, Science, National Geographic, Smithsonian, History, Nature (now 'Green'), BBC, etc., about half a decade ago are no longer supported. Instead, the major interest is more appropriately on 'Ancient Aliens' and such programs. Although there seem to be less censorship, still these programs leave a lot to be desired.
- The most harmful aspect of religious beliefs is the incitement of fear, which is the most fundamental goal of the Dark. These ideologies commonly promote the idea of 'sin,' provoke the concept of 'punishment' via 'damnation' to 'hell,' warn humanity about the 'judgment day,' and prophesize 'Armageddon,' and 'End of Days.'
- These have been particularly terrifying as well as 'alarming' to the human inhabitants of Earth during the past two decades, as there has been a tremendous amount of conjecture regarding the 'Y-2K' and other apocalyptic deadlines.
- These religions speak of 'rapture' and 'chosen race' that are particularly disturbing as these beliefs create 'separation' among people, and drive mankind to wonder about a discriminating God who is discerning regarding her (his) creation. This cannot be further from the 'truth' as God is merciful and God is non-judgmental.
- This, in turn, promotes anger and despair in Mankind, which is particularly damaging in these days considering the substantial amount of grief she (he) is going through with regard to the collapse of financial system, the stress associated with the talk of various 'natural' disasters, wars, chemtrails, starvation, diseases, and not to mention, the upcoming 'end of days.'

- These are some of the examples of 'untruth' and reality misrepresentation which every Earth human has been conditioned and accustomed to.
- Based upon the same falsehood perceived as reality, people have the tendency to set their priorities and standards in life, namely as 'acquiring' which pertains to money and 'needful' things.
- Similarly, egotism and vanity dictates success, again, as 'acquiring;' but this time the focus of carnal desire is FLESH.
- There is no love, no romance, no compassion associated with this; it is, again, only about 'having' things, 'needful' things.
- The pursuit of money, position, and carnal desires is accentuated through the misinformation that Mankind is mortal. Being entrapped in a three dimension of reality the notion of time is very strong with Earth humans. We have all been conditioned to work 'by the clock.' Wages are paid based upon hours performed. Deadlines set target dates for completion and compensation for the projects involved. We live in a universe of three dimensionality with a linear perception of time. We age, and eventually die; both clear indications for existence of time. We conceive the fabric of universe as a four dimensional continuum consisting of three spatial and one time dimensions.
- Time has a pronounced effect on our perception of reality.
- The task of discarding a reality comprised of many such years of presumed truth is very involved and complicated. It requires 'time' for new exposure, deliberation, and absorption. It requires demolition first and subsequent reconstruction.
- Demolition necessitates 'cleansing' which is a tedious and time-consuming process.
- The energy required for a dual process of cleansing and reconstruction is actually more than twice effort of a single process of simply building from scratch. This is a typical case when 'the sum of the parts' does not equate the 'resultant' of the individual parts as is for all linear systems.
- And there is no ambiguity in this statement as clearly we are no longer concerned with a linear system.

- Reconstruction of your reality coupled with cleansing of all that existed within the framework of your preceding reality, transformation, and eventual ascension are all elements belonging to a higher domain of existence.
- Even at the transitional stage of reaching the incipient point of such higher reality, the linear domain of three dimensions has already been traversed and is no longer applicable to the equation at hand. Therefore, it is not unexpected that we reach a non-linear phenomenon as the 5th and higher dimensional domains are undoubtedly non-linear. In essence, the argued response is nothing more elaborate than stating that the 'principle of superposition' no longer applies in the higher domains.
- Again, there is no ambiguity in making such a statement because in the higher domains things only operate by considering the whole collective through the principle of 'Oneness.'
- In this case, One is all and all is One, which means in order to find the 'resultant' of ALL THAT THERE IS you cannot simply add the individual parts and equate this sum to the 'resultant.' This only applies to a linear problem. Here, the resultant is equal to any part of the collective. What one knows is equal to the entire knowledge of the collective. Therefore, there is no need for competition. There is no 'game.' There are no 'losers' as to be distinguished from 'winners.' Everyone is a winner. Everyone 'creates' for the benefit of the collective. There is no jealousy; there are no set-backs.
- Every effort, every waveform, every measure of energy is expended to uplift, to evolve what is to be evolved. This is the 'principle of Oneness,' a non-linear system totally void of useless energy dissipation, culminating in a 'conservative' process, fully optimized, and without the necessity of adhering to the 'limited' domain of 'linearity.'
- What is interesting is that when you create in the higher domains and as you exert effort to your continuum in order to achieve stretch or dilatation of your continuum, all in the interest of evolution, you no longer achieve stretch in proportion of your efforts exerted. In contrast, a rather small amount of effort can climax in achieving remarkable dilatation. Furthermore, the process is totally reversible and recoverable as the system is conservative without any losses or dissipation. Hence, what one inputs into the system another can extract and utilize and vice versa; and this applies to every point in the continuum giving rise to a perfectly holographic system. Everyone, anywhere in the universe, or generally in the related domain, can become a part of the hologram and work to create collectively without any regard to distance or time. In essence, this also leads to instant accessibility, an immediate manifestation. This system is particularly useful in communication as well as teleportation thus totally dissolving the notion of 'space,' or 'distance,' or time.

- The principle of 'Oneness' applies equally to human society or civilization as it does to the certain needs of such a society.
- Returning to the subject of our distorted 3D reality, it is unfortunately, contiguous with the artificially imposed belief that Mankind is without any significant power.
- We are told from early stages in our educational training to believe that only things or phenomenon that we can see with our eyes, hear with our ears, touch with our hands, taste with our tongue, and smell with our nose are real, with most significant emphasis being on the first and most former. The cliché is "seeing is believing."
- It is most emphatically stressed to us to think with our brains only and to resort to 'logic' that is injected into our minds, and to only believe or trust such rationale.
- To that effect, we are even made highly biased to utilize our left-side brain only which functions and resonates with more direct masculine and coarse energies.
- Anything that requires use of right-side brain which may be more refined, delicate, and necessitate application of female energies are left out, strongly discouraged, or even ridiculed.
- Subjects of parapsychology or even psychology are belittled and labeled as 'non-exact.'

- Almost all arts-related disciplines such as painting, calligraphy, fashion design, etc., are viewed as 'sentimental,' and are keened to be specific to females only.
- The phenomenon of telepathy, clairvoyance, telekinesis, and such are downgraded as being taboo.
- Thus we are vehemently and convincingly steered to believe that only finance, mathematics, law, management, science, and engineering are useful in life, classifying other subjects as 'fantasy' or self-indulgently entertaining.
- And of course, nothing can be farther than truth.
- First of all, brain is the product of duality. There is never a single truth associated with them. In fact, for every postulate there are two extremely opposite candidates for outcome, giving rise to two contrastingly conflicting solutions. As a twofold set of probabilities, there is always the concern of 'ifs' and 'buts' concomitant with these characteristically opposite possibilities.
- Under these circumstances, it is highly 'irrational,' even by the inconsistent standard of duality-ridden mind, or 'illogical' by the contradictory reasoning of the brain to resort to the brain for obtaining an absolute resolution for each query.
- On the other hand, it has been recently shown that heart is a much more complex organ than originally envisioned. It does not simply function as a pump driving and circulating blood all over the body. Apart from the most important function of encasing and protecting the soul, it actually is a highly intricate organ for the nervous system and the energetics of the physical body. It has a meticulous electromagnetic field that interacts with the various chakras throughout the body.
- This, in turn, has the potential to interconnect with any possible energy grid all over the universe providing a smooth path to telepathy, clairvoyance, teleportation, and such, and to use the energetics of the grid in order to acquire any form of data within the energy network which may be essential and deemed as beneficial.

- The way that all these functions is through a series of electromagnetic binary codes which are distinguishable as thoughts or sensations, sufficient enough as to generate a totally 'live' and extremely detailed holographic image in the mind, providing all sensations of sight, sound, taste, touch, as well as smell.
- The binary signals are received, processed and then exchanged with the energy grid through the heart. The heart first receives the binary signal and then communicates it to thymus and other appropriate glands and organs throughout the body.
- Each constituent member receives, analyzes and processes the signal and communicates it to other integral components within the body, and eventually transfers it back to the heart through a feedback loop.
- It is not surprising that the 'heart' was entitled with such an appropriate term as it operates as the 'central' command post for the entire body.
- As for the brain, it merely serves as a 'work station' for temporary storage of data as well as a brief and transitory memory bank for processing the data. This is much the same as how the older computer work stations used to operate prior to the advent of individual lap tops, desk tops, and other digital devices. Namely, the object of the work station terminals was to provide local access to a much larger, in storage and memory capabilities, remote computer.
- Indeed, this is the extent of capability of our future physique.
- Initially, we were provided with our rather small and much more limited 'brain' for communicating and gathering data, our 'experiences,' from our exterior environments, and store this knowledge in our brain. The brain was also utilized to process and rationalize this 'newly' gathered information and relay its 'logical' findings to our heart and our 'soul' encased within. The initial hardware specifications, namely as storage and memory capabilities were far more than adequate for one-life time of incarnation on Earth. In fact, it is generally agreed, that currently we only use a very small fraction of our brain to store and rationalize the information we collect from our surroundings. These specifications by the 'experts' vary from 3 to even 10 percent, with the former being a better approximation for the situation at hand.

- This is consistent with fact that only 2 out of our 12 possible DNA strands are currently switched on and interconnected with one another, which are commonly referred to as the 'double helix.'
- The other 10 strands are inappropriately termed as 'junk DNA' by our 'learned' scientists. By expert deduction of our geneticists the double helix only provides for roughly 2 to 3% of our overall possible capabilities.
- And of course, this was Annunaki's omen bequeathed on us circa 13,000 years ago as to sabotage our natural genetics - a gift bestowed on us by the Almighty - and subdue us from gaining the status of super-consciousness that we were otherwise destined to obtain presently.
- If the other 10 strands were to be activated and interconnected with the rest this would lead to a status of a 'super-man,' infinitely more gifted and powerful than any of the numerous characters of 'super-heroes' depicted in Saturday cartoons dramatized in our recently popular motion pictures.
- Neither 'Superman,' 'Spiderman,' 'Batman,' 'Cat-woman,' or even mutant 'X-men' would come even close in power, in intelligence, in compassion, in loving capacity, or creational ability than the original Mankind himself. In fact, not even the sum of all these fictitious characters equate to the Earth humans.
- Furthermore, the biblical accounts of Jesus's performed 'miracles' two thousand years ago also seem not extraordinary.
- In fact, the most primary purpose of Jesus incarnating on Earth was to show Mankind who they really are and what they can expect from themselves. He provided himself as a living proof for all to see a reflection of themselves in him. Unfortunately, the message was not well-received by Earth humans at the time due to being conditioned to think they are only 'commoners,' and they would never amount to anything. Consequently, he was perceived as God, very much in concert with their long forgotten, well-planted image of their alien oppressors as being Gods. It is this conditioning of having a highly false self-image and sense of 'inferiority complex' that is most deterrent to Earth humans, to have a desire to explore within, to be guided to find oneself as a highly sentient celestial being unmatched elsewhere in the universe, and to strive for more consciousness via further evolution.

- Instead, the Earth humans are conditioned to pay attention to flesh and to the most rudimentary impulses of desiring sex whose fundamental purpose was to effect procreation and possibly to attract opposite genders to one another in order to form a nest to raise their offspring.
- In essence, this is not unlike life in the nature regarding animals and non-sentient beings. The only difference is that Mankind is most powerful and he is bestowed with gift of free will. He is fully in charge of Himself, His impulses, and His destiny. He can direct His impulses to focus on anything He desires.
- He is in fact, a God in the making. He can 'Create' whatever he wants, whenever He desires. He is the 'Creator' of His reality. He Creates His own destiny. The only remaining challenge for Him is to 'find' Himself, to carefully observe, and to 'see' Himself for what He really is.
- Inferiority complex is an artificially imposed impulse far unworthy and beneath His true reality. Being constantly haunted for money and materialistic 'things' and diligently engaging oneself in pursuit of wealth is not only contemptible to His divine origin; but even irrational by His Earthly physical standard. After all, 'life is too short' for one incarnation on Earth; and 'you cannot take it with you' once you join back with your soul.
- The universe is at your disposal at any 'time' any 'place' in your eternal life. The notion of 'having' or 'owning' is futile. If you observe and appreciate your 'true' reality you will 'see' there is prosperity in store with you. The notion of 'completion' with others, 'jealousy' and 'envy' is vain.
- It is 'sharing' that is insightful, and is what you need to focus on. It is in concert with the principle of 'Oneness,' which is the most profound doctrine in the universe. This is what you should concentrate on; this should be the subject of your prioritization.
- We were originally conceived in a form of an 'oversoul' to supply a pool of individual souls by the Almighty in the earliest dawn of creation for the very specific task at hand to live in duality and to defeat evil for all his wrongdoings.

- It has already taken two major trials in form of evolutionary cycles to experiment and learn. In both of the past preceding cycles we were tricked and dishonestly deceived as to 'lose' in this game of duality. This is the 3rd and the last round. This time it is ordained by the Almighty for us to 'win' and to return 'HOME' to HIM.
- It is a long journey that may take us a billion or indeed billions of years to complete. It is said, it is written, and it shall be fulfilled. The incipient moment of 'CONTRACTION' is at hand.
- There shall no longer be any further new Creation by the Almighty for this universe. This universe shall stop expanding and the reversal journey of ALL returning to ONE shall begin.
- It is clear that the role of Earth humans in this revelation is far from significant or rudimentary.
- It is further amazing that despite Annunaki's attempt in cheating us through genetic degradation - or at least imposed malfunctioning - and with Illuminati's continual and carefully action of robbing us of our true consciousness we are still triumphant. Very few have submitted to the vile transformation to the darkness, of which some courageous souls have only agreed to play this role temporarily, in this incarnation, in order to gain more close access to the dark as to further learn its functioning mechanism.
- The heart of the most majority of the Earth humans remain in the light, and with slight cleansing will render pure, loving, compassionate, in Oneness, and subservient to ALL.
- This is indeed triumph, a crowning achievement for Earth's Mankind.
- We remain 'true,' to the Faith, more powerful than ever - with the degree of insight and consciousness unlike any other - to be sought and modeled after.
- The task is being accomplished. We are indeed ready to go HOME.
- Going Home requires preparation. Before we can go home we must first cleanse ourselves from the contamination of inferiority complex. We need to reach within the confines of our heart and communicate and infer with our soul in order to resurrect and, once again, 'see' who we really are. We must remember that we are beings fully cognizant of our surroundings, commendable of having achieved full self-awareness, and praiseworthy of the status of Christ consciousness.

- We need to further appreciate that we are compassionate beings fully capable of unconditional love. We are of light and of love, and this is the sole extent of our daily engagements. We are Creators of our own reality, and we are highly powerful beings - those who the universe attentively listens to our ideas, thoughts, and beliefs. We, indeed, have no negative judgment about ourselves or things we do or create over the course of our lives. We are quite self-assured and we do not live in a world of duality or ponder about 'this' or 'that.' We are strong and confident. We do not know fear or uncertainty. Notion of 'survival' is meaningless to us as we only know of prosperity and of comfort. We do not dissipate energy and only use the light for conversion, for manifestation of our creations. We are never startled or alarmed. We never have negative reactions to things or to others as we love ALL and we synchronously resonate with ALL THERE IS. Our thoughts and emotions are highly potent electromagnetic energy waveforms and we do not ever dissipate precious energy by engaging negative thoughts or feelings. We are a conservative source and we strongly advocate reciprocity and reversibility. We are creatures of joy and we enflame happiness and we stimulate laughter. We have no judgment to ALL; we observe; we listen. We have no concerns but to experience and to create. Whatever we do happens wondrously and flows without much efforts. This is the reason the universe is subservient to us and awaits our every desires, every command. We are a part of the oversoul of the earliest moment of Creation and this is because we are WHO WE ARE.
