

“Life”

- Have you ever stopped to wonder what ‘life’ or ‘death’ is?
- One minute you have a dear one ‘alive’ and kicking, capable of looking at you, talking to you, communicating with you; and next she (he) is laid ‘lifeless’ before you, just like a totally inanimate object, with no ‘consciousness,’ incapable of movement, entirely non-interactive, not even able of even maintaining itself, soon to be rotted and reduced to dust.
- In the context of 3D reality, death is basically the conclusion to one episode or saga of ‘life.’ It is when the SELF, generated at or just prior to the time of birth has had its use and totally merges back with the HIGHERSELF in total fusion, harmony, and synchronicity.
- But what exactly is life? How is it created? What are its essential and sufficient components? Obviously without ‘life’ there is no SELF; there is no death. What about HIGHERSELF? Is it dependent on death? The answer to the latter is a resounding NO. As we have said before death is a culmination of one lifetime experience leading to dissolution of SELF. However, the knowledge, the experiences, and the additional consciousness gained during the episode of the said lifetime do not disappear. They get ‘stored’ in the HIGHERSELF, which acts as sort of a treasury or vault for knowledge and consciousness among other things. Think of it as the motherboard, containing of not only the CPU that provides applicability; but also hard drive, and memory too. Imagine SELF as a blank copy, as the laserdisc, that fits into a proper slot in the overall HIGHERSELF. When the pre-determined capacity of the SELF is exhausted, there is death of the present lifetime. There is no further animation, no life until the filled laser disk is all copied and absorbed back to the main HIGHERSELF drive; and then it all starts all over again. First the laser disk is formatted and 'initialized' to start a new 'life' that begins with a new incarnation. And, so it is, it goes on.

- So the question still remains. What exactly is life? How can it be achieved?
- The most necessary and sufficient component of 'life' is CONSCIOUSNESS. It is consciousness that kick starts an episode of 'life.' The very quality of life can be measured in terms of 'consciousness unit.' A higher amount of consciousness unit culminates in a better and more advanced form of 'life.'
- Consciousness is imparted on a potential living entity through LIGHT.
- The 'Light' is an inherent component of ALL THERE IS, the sublime CREATOR.
- The 'Light' is energy. Everything is composed of energy. A living thing has as its most fundamental essence as a 'light' collective. This assembly of light generating consciousness is commonly referred to as a 'soul.' A soul, being explicit to one specific living thing only is actually a part of an OVERSOUL. The oversoul describes a collection of souls that would contain the entire set of possibilities for a particular soul. This means the soul is privy to choosing any possible outcome within an infinite set of possibilities for the said soul. The soul is given the strict exclusivity of FREE WILL to choose whatever the soul wants to be chosen from a set of already existing scenarios available to him (her) to select from. Therefore, the details of a 'lifetime' for a soul are entirely dependent on the soul himself (herself). In a particular life you choose whether you want to be a teacher, a doctor, a lawyer, an engineer, etc. You decide how long you want to live (in 3D reality and not higher realm), you decide whether you want to incarnate as a human or reptilian, or a cat or dog for that matter. You are the boss. You chose your life's experience.
- So, you have your soul as a consciousness receiver (and transmitter) unit which is the same as HIGHERSELF in our previous terminologies. Note that there is no ambiguity among SELF, HIGHERSELF, and HIGHESTSELF here if we are considering the higher realms. If the soul has reached Christ consciousness then no fragmentation of soul into the three components is necessary. 'Life' is perpetual and non-ending without any sojourns. And in the case of a soul striving to reach its ultimate goal of Christ consciousness, any ambiguity between HIGHER OR HIGHEST SELF is impertinent to our discussion. Similarly, the concept of soul fragmentation within the context of a 3D paradigm has also been discussed and does not create any discrepancies here.

- The way 'life' can be defined is best illustrated through considering the process of stop-animation for making a motion picture. Imagine 'oversoul' has the projector, capable of dispersing light on to a screen. Visualize soul as being the screen. As the projector shines light onto the soul, the souls acquires consciousness. It becomes alive. It senses its surroundings. It gathers information. It gets experience. The light that is bombarded on the soul is in a form of a strobe light and shines in a pulsating manner. Therefore the soul has moments of consciousness followed by darkness that depicts lack of sight, lack of awareness, lack of consciousness, or simply lack of life. It is obvious that the higher consciousness the soul has or receives the more alive it gets. It is analogous to development of an image on a picture, whether paper or a film. Higher consciousness entails more awareness, and is analogous to existence of more pixels on the paper or film. The frequency of the strobe light that shines upon the soul and its acquired consciousness to transmit back the experience gained to the oversoul may be associated with a 'natural' frequency under which the soul operates or exists. This is the NATURAL FREQUENCY OF VIBRATION of the soul which we have spoken of before. This describes the very 'nature' of the soul with regard to its state of awareness or consciousness which is an indication of the natural frequency of the light energy it resonates. Higher light energy corresponds to a higher degree of vibration.
- The details of the scenery projected on the screen with which the soul is fused in, 'the life,' are determined by the soul's selection of a myriad of infinite possibilities available to the soul. As the soul experiences an episode, the experience is projected back to the oversoul which is stored in the memory of a HIGHERSELF within the OVERSOUL. It is clear that:
- (1) There exists a variety of 'parallel universes' within which the role of the soul is different. For example, in one the soul represents a physician; in another an engineer; so on and so forth. In one, the soul has a short life span; in another a longer on; etc. In one, the soul is married; in another single; in another the soul is a gay individual; etc. As 'life' is not a continuous phenomenon, one can jump back and forth among many universes without realizing it.

- (2) As 'life' is nothing but a series of stop-animation giving rise to a saga or a 'life' story, therefore, there is no past, present, and future, as all happens in the NOW moment. Therefore, the concept of TIME is obsolete.
- (3) One can jump back and forth in what is conceived as 'time' by us. Therefore, one can easily travel in 'time,' going back or forth or indeed live in a particular NOW moment, any choice of the NOW one desire.
- It is clear that capability to time travel, 'live' and 'relive' a moment entirely lies within a particular soul. Also it is apparent that one is totally in charge of his (her) destiny. Obviously we are all Creators, a chip of the old block, our CREATOR FATHER/MOTHER who has blessed us with a soul capable of receiving units of consciousness in order to become aware of our environment and of ourselves.
- And how exactly we do our creation? Through visualization and projection of thoughts. The more we know, the more we can project. The challenge is to be DISCIPLINED and to be able to focus on what one desires. There is a certain IMPECTABILITY that one needs to acquire, a certain SOVEREINITY which makes you accomplished, skilled, or gifted, if you will. This is a subject of another essay. For the sake of argument let's say that you need to acquire enough SELFAWARENESS to be able to achieve CREATING THROUGH THOUGHTS. It is not strange, it is not even complicated per say, it only needs devotion, diligence, and purity of thoughts. Remember that consciousness, and indeed life itself is a strong function of light. And light is love. Light is benevolent. Light thrives on compassion. There is, therefore, no room for dark energies here. Not only Creation is dependent on thought, and though is a product of light, the very existence of consciousness and the advent of soul is geared to light. No one can create souls but the All Mighty. This is why dark thrives on beings of light, because only entities who are of light can receive divine light energies to sustain and improve their consciousness. Instead, dark entities 'feed' on the innocence of beings of light like parasites that they are to rob them of their light energies and further subject them to ignorance and low consciousness which are essentially the very characteristics of the dark beings.

- Through countless number of abductions and mutilations of God's creatures during eons of time certain Dark Beings [e.g., the Greys] have been able to collect enough data as to create near perfect copies of hybrid man and other entities. Some are actually of reptilian origin. These creatures were to be introduced to Earth, and indeed, very well might have been during the past few decades. Another group of beings were created by the Greys, the minions of Orion's Draconians. Since 1954 the Greys have been abducting our people with the blessings of the Illuminati controlled United States government. They have been experimented upon like common rats, tortured, mutilated, and even slaughtered by these individuals in order to understand the secrets of man's genetics in order to introduce a new race of hybrid alien comprised of humans and greys. And, they have succeeded. By mid 1990s they managed to manufacture no less than 183,000 individuals who apparently look like us, talk like us, and somewhat behave like us. They have been introduced to our population and they walk the corridors of our government offices, etc. without our knowledge of them. So what is the difference between these individuals and us, you might ask? Plenty. We are the original articles, sentient, capable of creative thoughts and emotions and they are cheap artificial copies. Although they look quite real, they lack emotions due to absence of any souls. They are at best biological computers capable of logic and reasoning with a modicum of pre-programmed data; yet they are not really 'alive.' They are sophisticated cyborgs in a shell of illusion.
- On the other hand, we hear now that there are a host of other kinds of entities who possess a soul. Our own mother Earth, for example, is alive and quite conscious. Going under the name Gaia, she has guided us and protected us for eons and eons. We are indeed, constituent parts of her; we are her organs, if you will. We also hear of examples of ships as big as or even larger than our own Earth which are totally sentient, capable of interacting with their residents through telepathy, and being completely biological. It is not even possible to walk on the hallways of such ships as they are live beings and one has to slightly levitate in order to traverse different corridors of these living giant beings. Other examples of sentient living entities we hear of nowadays are biological computers completely capable of interacting telepathically with their users. All these things that we perceived as being in the realm of the inanimate are alive while the artificially created beings are in fact not alive due to absence of souls within them.

- So, what are we? We are a constituent part of the everlasting, conscious God.
- We are sentient beings capable of full awareness of ourselves and of our surroundings. We are hallowed with thoughts to Create, bring about, to materialize, and to manifest whatever we desire, with details of any kind, from any perceived 'period' or 'time' whatsoever. Furthermore, we are blessed with emotions to experience and thoroughly enjoy such episodes or sagas we organize together and call 'life.'
- What is more, we have total FREE WILL to experience whatever we want with any progression or sequence. It is all up to us. We are the complete boss. There are no polices. There are no judgments. There are no sentences or punishments. There are no 'sins' to be reprimanded for. Our only responsibility is to our own conscience. The only guideline for following to a road to utter prosperity, happiness, total self-satisfaction is to adhere to the light. The light gives you the clarity for you to 'see' your path better. And this is the beauty of it. The very essence of light, and consciousness and their design is that you choose wrong; you stray into the dark; your light fades away; you lose consciousness; and in order to gain it back you need to go back and suffer in the dark in order to preserve light, gain back awareness in order to be able to find your way back into the light, higher consciousness, peace, tranquility, and prosperity once again. You carry with you the essence of God. The essence of consciousness. You have the fantastic tool of Creation – your capability of thoughts. You have the reward of feeling to entice your experiences, for whatever you choose to experiment through your emotions. Everything is an illusion until you create and bring them to reality; and until you experience them to enjoy and to appreciate. Think wisely, choose your experiences accordingly. Do not stray in the dark so you do not get 'lost,' forgetting yourself, who you are, what you are, what you are capable of, what you are doing here. Sharpen your wits; remember your divine origin, recall that you are the Creator of your destiny, your experiences. Do not lose your self-awareness; strive to gain further consciousness whenever possible. And when you exhaust all your options making all your selections possible, consult the Creator Father/Mother to Create a new Universe with him with fresh choice of paradigms to be selected from.

- So there is. Such is 'life.' And the irony of it is with all the power of our creation, with such a divine heritage, we are sitting unaware of ourselves, playing subservient to a parasitic form of beings called Illuminati. We are indeed 'lost.' We are indeed out of touch with ourselves and with our consciousness. It is time to be awakened. It is time to discard these frames and their progressions we called reality and play a different saga (movie) of 'life.'
