

Polarization versus Integration

- To be exclusively spiritual or not; that is the question!
- Should one totally disregard the diversities that a physical life offers and be exclusively God-loving [or god-fearing] like a monk instead?
- If yes, then what is the purpose of physical existence afforded by God in the first place?
- Has HE/SHE not encouraged us to experiment with matter and learn and evolve?
- Is evolution restricted to spirituality only?
- Does spirituality mean God-adoration and nothing else?
- Is God needy of our adoration?
- Is this the Divine Plan to exclusively adore him and nothing else? Surely Not!
- HE/SHE is neither needy of our meager humble appreciation nor has created a new Universe exclusively dedicated to such a futile doctrine or directive from HIS/HER point of view.
- Any appreciation or admiration or adoration that we feel towards HIM/HER is indigenous to ourselves mostly instigated from our own sense of NEED or INSECURITIES; we all are deeply and inherently attracted towards HIM/HER haunted by a desire of sometimes joining with HIM/HER; and yes, it is our DESTINY, it is our MISSION, it is our ultimate QUEST, and it is the utter sense of SELF-FULFILLMENT and ultimate sense of SELF-SATISFACTION or RESOLUTION to be able to finally join up with HIM/HER.
- And it is indeed, HIS/HER Divine Plan to have us get fully educated and fully trained before we are ready to depart from the nest.
- It is, indeed, HIS/HER Divine Decree that it shall be said, and it shall be done thus way, as any kind, loving parent would desire as such.

- HIS/HER hopes for us to someday graduate from this school of hard Knox with flying colors and be a valedictorian for all to see his children advance to the next level. And, what is this next level?
- To finally join with HIM/HER and sit with HIM/HER as adults and somewhat equals, collectively planning the design, creation, and the Grand Experiment for the NEXT Universe, to serve as the next curriculum, and the next template, for the next group of students, the new beings to revere that to be the Divine Plan for them to follow their directives in order to experiment, to learn, and to graduate and in turn to be the valedictorian of the next generation sentient being in the new Universe.
- They are to be our children as we are to our Almighty Father/Mother NOW.
- And, WE will be the new Father/Mother and their parental God.
- If you are in a sufficiently high state of consciousness you would appreciate that we would not to be worshipped day and night, and the educational program we shall devise as then Divine Plan for our children would not be confined or exclusive to all-adoration and worship of us. Surely, we are already beyond that!
- So why would our Divine Almighty Father/Mother want this for us now?
- After all, we still have eons and eons to go to get to HIS/HER status of maturity, excellence, and divinity.
- It is the author's strong belief, if not state of 'knowing' that our Almighty Father/Mother wants us to be joyful and eager to experience the diversities of physical life that HE/SHE has so generously and abundantly provided for us.
- The labeling of materialism only applies to a sense of greed and extreme attachment to matter, a derailed sense of illusionary and phantasm that it to regard it as "mine" and "I own it," a kind of creating a security blanket that an apprehensive child does during his/her early childhood.
- No one owns anything in the Universe; they ALL belong to God.
- It is provided for us to experiment with, to enjoy, and to learn from.
- To use it as a security blanket, or a security fence to that matter, depriving others or making them envious of it is a childish, selfish act, and is, indeed, devious, as well as deranged.

- On the other hand, ALL THAT THERE IS, is there for you to appreciate and to enjoy. It is provided in abundance in the Universe, and the sooner you realize this the sooner you lose your blind sense of exclusivity, territoriality, and attachment to it.
- Consider a painting that is there for you to appreciate its delicacy, and the art that goes behind creating it. It gives you a certain sense of distinction that you may very well resonate with it. Forget about its price; it is arbitrary, and most cases predatory, or underlined with a kind of ego-based exclusivity that “it is mine” or “I am the one who can afford it.” Strictly speaking it belongs to ALL and needs to be enjoyed by ALL.
- Consider a gorgeous and artistically designed sports car. Whether you designed it or built it or even bought it, it is to be appreciated; for its beautiful aerodynamic external body or interior design or for its performance and exhilarating ride. It is there to be appreciated and to be enjoyed. You should treat it with admiration and with respect. You should enjoy it, yet take care of it, to pass it on to your children or to others. Appreciating it, taking care of it, treating it with admiration is NOT materialism. Again, it was provided for your pleasure and learning. As long as you do not disturb others and do not threaten other people’s lives by speeding or reckless driving, you should drive it and drive it hard, and you should experiment with speed, and whatever you sensibly can. It is not a sin and it is not materialism. Enjoy it, experiment with it, and learn a thing or two. If you can afford it by a variety of them. Just make sure you are balanced and you share your prosperities. Help others, give to charity, and also indulge in enjoying that sport cars if you can. Life is to enjoy, to experiment, and to learn. Just as when you see your toddler takes a ride in HIS/HER Cozy Coup or the battery-operated Jeep, and you are filled with joy and see tears run down your cheeks or just feel great by watching your child takes off in HIS/HER car, our Almighty Father/Mother thinks and feels the same. Surely, you do not stand by the curb thinking this child should be adoring me and not enjoying himself/herself, experimenting and learning how to drive; and indeed ‘SHAME ON HIM/HER!’

- Similarly, if you have an appreciation for fashion or any other kind of design and you indulge yourself with abundant variety of items, you are neither materialistic nor selfish. This is, again, provided that by such indulgences you do not deprive your children or family members from what is to be enjoyed, experimented with and learned from. Additionally, when you have excess you share and you should be charitable. Furthermore, you make sure you do not cheat or steal from others to satisfy your greed and voracious appetite. The law of Universe works as such that if you are kind, compassionate, and fair to others God provides more and for you. And what is more, you enjoy and you are able to indulge yourself; to experiment with and to learn from your experiences; but never get attached to mere MATTER that is abundant in the Universe!
- Again the key thing is not to be greedy and not to manipulate, cheat, or acquire by force. Fairness, justice, compassion and empathy for others are the only sensible traits to adhere and to be dedicated to. Diversities of life are the Prime Creator's gifts to you to be enjoyed, experimented with and learned through. Greed is the dark energy that will consume you and deprive you from otherwise joy and pleasure. Attachment to things is futile. After all, have you not heard over and over that "you cannot take it with you?" Illusionary security via the blanket of materialism or senseless gathering is useless. This is not to say the collection as a hobby is wrong. What is said is that it should not be based upon greed or ego. It could be done in a disciplined and organized manner with an agenda or theme that is educational, illustrative, and revealing, one that could be shared with others and eventually donated to a museum or passed along to a new generation to continue collecting in a same light which is constructive and useful.
- To label things as materialistic or self-indulging or selfish is itself wrong and a manifestation of the Dark. It is uselessly judgmental, often based upon deficiency of adequate information or lack of consideration of it, or motivated by dark energies of jealousy, self-inadequacy, and lack of compassion for others.

- It is quite clear that extreme polarization to the dark is the result of a deranged mind. Not only is unbalanced and unstable, but it is even disturbing to a 'normal' state of rational mind. It defies logic to a sensible being who would easily find impossible to resonate with.
- Dark polarization can only be tolerated by those having a very long history of accepting dark energies within them. It is usually in concert with having seriously 'damaged' genome as may be characterized by severely impaired and out of balanced recoded DNA and RNA system. It would be impossible to correct such deficiencies within a given lifetime by recoding and realignment of the DNA system within the physical body.
- This in turn would necessitate clearing and cleansing the emotional body from lifetimes of deeply repressed fear and anger that could not be reasonably surfaced due to extreme fear embedded within the ego, the inner child within the emotional body. These are simply too hard to be played back and re-experienced within the context of a compassionate or love-based emotional cleansing.
- Conversely, as a necessary mechanism of survival these emotions are handled with further apathy and indifference as opposed to compassion which is the necessary prerequisite to transmuting the dark energies deeply embedded within and increasing the light quotient or consciousness thus leading to resonance with high vibration frequency within both the physical and the emotional body. This is why one gets plunged into such low levels of Dark energies; it is easier to live in apathy and indifference and further embarking in dark energy practices which are mandated and expected from such an individual functioning in the corresponding dark polarized society.
- The Dark as well Light energies live in all of us. This is why we are here and living under the condition of duality. In fact this is exactly what is meant by duality, when both Light and Dark energies are present. You cannot simply wish Dark energies to stop existing and totally disappear. They actually are here to serve the Light. Without the Dark energies there would be little or no appreciation of the divine Light. Furthermore, it would render life as mundane and void of purpose for experimentation.

- There has been two other past trials for humanity to experiment and see what is the viable and best form of formulating life, namely by Polarization to Light, by Dark Polarization, and finally through Polarity Experimentation. These are called phase 1 and Phase 2 of Earth's 'Grand Experimentations.' Phase 1 was played out on a planet called Avyon in the Vega System of the Constellation of Lyra. During this experimentation the concept of Polarization to Light was tried. It failed through break of the First Galactic Wars which led to total annihilation of the planet and other nearby planets by the coalition of the Dark forces [the Reptilians of the Orion Constellation].
- The second trial occurred on a planet by the same name in the Pleiades as the humankind reintegrated and restarted from scratch to build a highly advanced and successful system in the Pleiades. This time the utopic Light Polarized society attempted to experiment with the philosophy of the Dark by inviting such a society to come and live with them. Soon, the Dark forces outsmarted the Light force and eventually tried to colonize and take over the very same planet that they were initially invited to visit. Again the 2nd Galactic Wars broke out between the Dark forces (known as the Anchara Group) who were again reptilian in origin and the Mankind of the Pleiades. Again, the Dark annihilated the Light and the experiment failed again. During these wars several other planets as well as the new Avyon were obliterated. As a result, the souls of the Sirius A became homeless.
- The 3rd experiment was initiated on Earth by upgrading the Homo erectus man to Homo sapiens; which clearly explains the absence of any fossil records and thus the 'Missing Link.' At this time the Sirians became hopeful that planet Earth would be promised to them. They are currently here, watching over their brothers and sisters on Earth, ensuring that we ascend to the higher dimensions [4th, 5th, or 9th for which the energy grids are set up and will be completed on 12-12-12].
- So here we are. This time the success of the 3rd Grand Experiment has been ensured and due to the Anchara Agreement signed between the Dark and the Light there will no longer be a war in the Galaxy. Besides, millions of ship representing the forces of Light from all over, this and other Universes are here to ensure the success of our ascension.

- It is all up to us. The requirement for ascension is to raise our vibration rate so we can resonate with the higher vibration frequencies of higher dimensions. The 4th and 5th dimensions reside in the 2nd Harmonic universe, while the 9th dimension is in the 3rd Harmonic universe. The former curtails having a lighter physical body; but in the latter there is no requirement for possessing a physical body and it is optional. Obviously the state of energies as well as the vibration frequencies is progressively higher in the higher universes.
- To be able to even resonate in the 4th or 5th dimensions we must raise our frequencies considerably. This first requires recoding of our DNAs and that curtails clearing and cleansing our emotional bodies from repressed dark energies embedded within associated with past and present karmas.
- Furthermore if they are any implants imposed upon us as a security measure or otherwise to lower our frequencies or to imprison us within the 3rd dimension must be recoded to be released. All this needs application of pure Light energies that have been shined upon us from various sources; our sun, the central sun, other planets within and outside the galaxy or even in other universes, as well as the Light that has been directed us from the occupied ships of our countless space brothers and sisters, some who have been here since the 90s and even prior to that and others who are still coming to see the finale of the polarity game being played on Earth at this moment. Of course, the results and the details of the game closely affect other planets, and this is why they are here too.
- Some of the details of the ascension procedure are still sketchy; however, it is clear that the vibration frequency must match the minimum required vibration rate for a particular dimension within a universe. Hence there will be as many parallel Earths, each characterized by its own frequency, energy level, or light quotient, as mass consciousness would demand. Therefore, the population of Earth will surely be distributed among these parallel dimensions.
- It is likely that the greatest percentage of the population will remain on the 3rd dimension. To these, it would appear as if nothing happened. A relatively much smaller percentage of the population will ascend or resurrect to the higher planes, with mostly ending up going to the 5th dimension in the 2nd Harmonic universe HU2. Yet a very select few will probably ascend to the 9th dimension in HU3 with the option of keeping or losing their light bodies which would have transformed to on or before the Ascension Day.

- So what are the advantages of Polarity Integration?
- What follows are the author' feedback on the subject:
- Neither the Polarity Integration Experimentation nor ascension has come with a 'How to' pamphlet or instruction manual.
- Mankind has done very well by successfully integrating the polarities of Light and Dark within him/her.
- We have not come out 'perfect' in the 3rd Grand Experiment as there are those indeed very minute minority among us who have FALLEN by the way of Dark Polarization. Additionally, there is the majority of the mass who still have the thoughts of fear, egotism, doubt, skepticism, and distrust, who are yet struggling with survivability; but these are the illusions that have been carefully entrenched in us buy the Dark Cabal that still controls us.
- After all, the rules of the game were changed upon us as to impose bondage upon duality, with the latter being the prime objective of experimentation.
- As it is decreed by the Almighty we have 'passed,' due to mitigating circumstances of having been subject to enslavement.
- Indeed, we are all here and the state of affairs is not completely perfect as to have totally defeated the Dark.
- Even empowered by utter destructive weaponry, the Dark has not achieved any victory; but to finally resort to wishful apparition of perhaps resorting to complete genocide to annihilate the mass of humanity belonging to the Realm of Light and the Angelics.
- All in all, we have endured the condition of bondage and the pain has been great.
- We have observed the virtue in enduring pain and it has been most instructive, much more than could have been envisioned under the occurrence of duality only.

- Our overall Light Quotient and Vibration Rate might have diminished from our original pristine of condition of pre-Atlantean-Ra eons ago; yet we have survived the constant suppression, deceit, misinformation, censorship, poverty-stricken dogma, war-mongering, etc., and not to forget, our genetic degradation from 12 strand DNA/6 strand RNA to a mere double helix DNA/single RNA system.
- I think we all should agree that overall we have done WELL; and surely scored a passing grade, if not better! Achieving a 100% grade, although being our envisaged destination, has not been possible under the mitigating circumstances. And, what is more, The All MIGHTY decrees that it is so!
- What is remarkably interesting is that this is the first and the only time this universe is completing the Polarity Integration Game [or Experiment] and no one including the ascended masters, archangels, and other divine personnel know the exact details of its conclusion [except Lord Metatron].
- This is why over 10,000,000 spectators are currently impatiently parked in our solar system to see how the game ends and what are the lessons learned. They are all so anxious because they are next.
- We are indeed the wayshowers, the leaders in this duality experimentation.
- What we have learned is precious to ALL in this and other Universes.
- We will be the teachers and the advisors once we graduate guiding and supervising others how to successfully end their experimentation and graduate with flying colors.
